For

Fast and attacking

Against

Could dig deeper; some comfort issues

There was already an 'i' at the end of the Grado SR325's product name, so an 's' has been added to this new version instead.

The finish is now silver rather than gold, which is a fine change in our book, but the really important point is that the sound is even better.

True, they don't dig quite as deep as AKG's K701, but they're just as analytical, as well as being even faster and more attacking.

Speakers of equivalent quality would cost thousands, so as long as you get on with the fit, these Grados are a no-brainer.
